“ Larry and I worked together in the safety department when it was BP and then bought out by Marathon Petroleum. He always made me laugh even during the troubling days when I didn't have anything to laugh about. I was fortunate to stay in touch with him after he retired. And visited him in the hospital last month. He was in good spirits and joking around making me and the hospital staff laugh. Below is a 'stay hydrated' promo that played on the Marathon in-house tv. I took a picture of it and wanted to share. I will miss you my dear friend.
