“ Happy Birthday, Andy. I still remember your birthday. I used to call you every year. I'm coming to Louisiana. I will leave an artificial chocolate chip cookie. I made them for you many times. I know you are in Heaven. I'll see you when I get there. I had a brain aneurism and during surgery the lost me on the table. I went to Heaven. So,,I Know I'll see you then. I bet they have the best chocolate chip cookies ever. I still pray for you. Susan lives in Welsh. So, until we see each other.

Keep throw hoops like we did! We made so many from what is called 3 point shots.. and throwing the football with a girl! I'll always love you my dear friend. GODSPEED. Love Donna Dronet-Raskin

Our families had a good connection with Mr. Burger tutoring my brothers, Terry was my oldest nephew's Godfather, and Susan classmate with my older siblings.
Susan, I am so sorry for your loss. Sending prayers and hugs.

“ Andy was one of my first childhood friends. Our fathers both taught school and were good friends. I can remember my mother going over to Mrs. Burger's to 'drink coffee' and Andy and I would play together while our mothers visited. My parents are Joe and Doris Baker. As adults Andy and I would run into each other from time to time and he was always gracious and we'd visit for a bit.

“ I met Andy when he was a senior in high school. Joel was coaching at Welsh High at the time. Andy was on Joel's basketball squad, and being a smaller unit, it was easy to get to know the players. Andy was a sweet guy, quite the charmer. He had an easy-going manner and always a kind word to say. Years later, I met him again. Although he seemed shyer and more thoughtful, he was still the same sweet Andy. I liked that he called me Mrs. Coach as he had when he was in high school. Andy's presence will be missed and as he journeys to his eternal home, I will remember the boy fondly and the man with respect. Let perpetual light shine upon him. Rest in peace, dear man.

Andy, was a neighborhood freind, a little older but always mixed in the group, when Crail Dr & Norwood Dr, were up to something. Ran into him at the Alumni Tournament many years ago, still the same nice guy. So sorry for your loss.
