Huntley, Wilbert Bruno, Joe Coleman and Tony Cade. I know the Lord saw fit to call you home. You fought a long hard battle and Jesus stepped in and said it's already won. You in a better place now and I know that, but it's just so hard to let you go. I will never forget your laugh and smile, or the tone of voice. We have been through a lot of ups and downs together but we made it through. It's going to be a long hard road for me to travel alone, because I know you are already home. I know your smiling down on us saying I made it over, telling me to give my heart and life to Jesus he is my shelter. He will see me through as you would always say take it one day at a time and I'll see my way. Words could never express the love I have for you or the pain I'm feeling. The only thing that gives me comfort right now is knowing that one day we will be together again. So you rest in peace now because this life is over for you. So spread your wings and fly high in the sky. Until we meet again, this is not goodbye. I love you now and I always will. We will miss you always. Love Lakiesha, Draviana and Keyonna Rest in peace Mama! “ I am so very sorry for your loss. Death is so hard and sad to deal with. Time and faith are the best healers although I've found the loss never goes away. I hope you find these scriptures to be of comfort to each of you. John 5:28 & 29; Isaiah 25:8
